Joins France in Desire that Americans Will Go to France Soon

BALFOUR TELLS COUNCIL

Briton Asserts English Would Be Overjoyed to Welcome
An American Force

STUDY WHOLE SITUATION

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Great Britain formally joined France today in expressing the hope that an American expeditionary force would soon take its place on the western front in Europe.

British would be overjoyed.

Foreign Secretary Balfour told the Council of National Defense today that the British would be overjoyed to welcome an American force in France and that its early dispatch could not but have an enormous psychological effect both upon the allies and upon their enemies.

Today's meeting brought together for the first time for formal conferences the British and American military officials, and there was a preliminary study of the whole general situation under the five heads of intelligence work, munitions, material, hospitals and the expeditionary force question. Five joint committees were appointed to work out a series of recommendations on these subjects.

Summarize Conference Results.
At the meeting the officials summarized the results of the individual conferences held daily since the British mission arrived and laid the ground for general discussions of all phases of military co-operation.

While no formal announcement was made the impression grew after the meeting that an American army will go to the western front as soon as possible.

The British officials present besides Mr. Balfour were Lieut. Gen. Bridges, Major C. P. Dansey and other military members attached to the mission. The United States was represented by Secretaries Baker, Lane and Redfield, and other members of the council of National Defense together with Major Generals Scott and Bliss, chief and assistant chief of staff, respectively, Brig. General Crozier, chief of ordnance, Quartermaster General Sharpe and Surgeon General Gorgas.

The question of sending an expeditionary force is understood to depend now almost entirely on whether the allies would prefer to divert from the transportation of food the amount of tonnage necessary to carry the soldiers across the Atlantic. The committee on expeditionary force will consider this subject particularly together with problems of supplies, equipment and the like before reporting. In addition it will take into account the fact that sending a force would curtail the general staff's plan for training the new army and will discuss where on the French front an American force would be sent and what its status would be.

Faces Great Problem.

The committee on intelligence is expected to take up censorship, espionage and related subjects. It is realized that the United States faces a great problem in maintaining liberty of the press without disclosing military secrets and it is thought the experience of the British will be of value.

The munitions committee will face the task of enlarging the output of munitions in this country so as to fully meet America's new needs without breaking up the vital flow to Europe.

At the outset the material committee will be charged with an offer determining whether an American force if one is sent shall be based and supplied from England and France in order to save the 3,000 mile line of communications. Also the committee will interchange opinion as to the better kinds of supplies for the armies.

The hospital committee will discuss first the plans for sending base hospitals to France from the regular army.

Names Not Announced.
The names of the officials on the several committees were not announced.

Already trade commissions of American officials and members of the British and French commissions are at work on a general export program to be submitted to the American and allied governments.

A plan of apportioning American supplies among the allies and the maintenance of a proper balance between munitions, food and other shipments is the first thing to be worked out by the trade committees.

AUTHORIZE BOND ISSUE.

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—The Central Illinois Public Service company of Mattoon was granted a permit by the state public utilities commission to issue $212,000 first and refunding gold bonds.

COMMITTEE DECIDES TO CURB KAISER'S POWER

Vote To Alter Article XVII of the Imperial Constitution

Decision in Accordance With a Joint Proposal by the Centrists, National Liberals and Progressives—Adopt Resolution Demanding Bill Fixing Chancellor's Responsibility

Amsterdam, May 5, via London.—A restriction of the power of the emperor of Germany has been decided upon by the constitution committee of the Reichstag, according to a despatch from Berlin. The committee has decided to alter article XVII of the Imperial constitution as follows:

"Ordinances and decrees of the Kaiser will be issued in the name of the Empire and will require for validity the counter-signature of the Imperial chancellor or his representative, who thereby assumes responsibility to the Reichstag."

Four Oppose Change

The decision of the committee was in accordance with a joint proposal by the Centrists, national liberals and the progressives. Four conservative members voted against the change.

The committee also adopted a resolution by the same proposers demanding a bill fixing the chancellor's responsibility for any violation of his official duty and the verification of such violation by a senate tribunal. Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the interior, told the committee that a definite statement in regard to his attitude could not be expected from him. He said that it would only be possible after the federal council had defined its position.

Rejects Bernstein's Proposals.
The constitution committee has rejected Dr. Bernstein's proposals requiring the approval of the Reichstag when treaties are being inaugurated and concluded, when war is declared and when peace agreements are being settled, the Berlin despatches state.

The committee also has rejected the proposal to introduce a bill giving the Reichstag power to dismiss the chancellor when it wishes, the despatches add.

FAIL TO COMPLETE REVENUE MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A proposal by Representative Moore of Pennsylvania to include a tax of $2.50 a bale on cotton in the war revenue bill stirred up a sectional controversy today in the house ways and means committee and resulted in the committee's failure to complete the bill tonight as had been planned. When adjournment was taken the suggestion still was under discussion. Its injection has made the time of completion of the bill uncertain but predictions tonight were it would be ready for submission to the house by Tuesday. Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee announced his committee would begin work on the bill as soon as it is reported to the house.

HOUSTON APPEALS TO WOMEN OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—In an appeal today to "the women of the United States," Secretary Houston declares they can do their bit most effectively in the national emergency by practicing effective thrift in their households.

To help win the war the secretary tells the women they can do these things:

"Demonstrate thrift in your homes and encourage thrift among your neighbors."

"Make saving rather than spending your social standard."

"Make economy fashionable lest it become obligatory."

TO RECEIVE HOLLWEG STATEMENT TUESDAY

Hollweg Reply Probably Will Move Thru Broad Shadowland of Generalities and Linguistic Subtleties.

Copenhagen, May 5.—Via London.—Notwithstanding the promise of the imperial German chancellor to answer peace interpellations in the Reichstag, the prediction may perhaps be hazarded that Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, will again find it no time to expose the government's peace conditions to the sunlight of publicity and that the reply will move thru the broad shadowland of generalities and linguistic subtleties, lying between the earlier indefinite declarations and the realm of plain statement in regard to the government's aim and peace policy.

At least this would appear at present to be his intention, judging by the inspired Berlin despatch in the Cologne Gazette which declares that nobody acquainted with the difficulties of foreign affairs in war—one coalition against another, could see in the chancellor's refusal to commit himself either to the imperialist program of conquest or to the Socialist plan of renunciation evidence of weakness and that the chancellor, confident that the great majority of Germans are with him will continue to follow his old course not yielding to the pressure of the right or left.

SAIL FOR WORK IN WAR ZONE.

New York, May 5.—Headed by George Sherwood Eddy of the Young Men's Christian Association war council, a party of sixty men, including 27 Princeton students and 21 from Northwestern University sailed today for work in the war zone. The majority of the Northwestern students will go to French and British fronts in Northern France.

VIVIANI MAKES APPEAL

CHICAGO, May 5.—How the French army, although improperly armed and ammunitioned, met the Germans on the Marne and whipped them in 1914 was told briefly tonight by Marshal J. J. Joffre of France in his second speech in America at the Dexter Pavilion, packed with 15,000 shouting men, women and children to bid farewell to the French mission led by Rene Viviani, minister of justice. After the large amphitheater had been filled a fire destroyed a $100,000 building of the Mather Stock Car Co., a block from the meeting. Firemen muffled the engines and the audience was not alarmed. The French commissioners stopped to watch the fire apparatus for a few minutes before entering the gaily decorated building. Many workmen had been allowed a half holiday to see the famous visitors, and all the addresses appealed to them to help manufacture munitions of war which they said were equally as essential as soldiers and at the front.

Marshal Joffre's Address
Marshal Joffre addressed his wildly cheering auditors as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen:
"I am happy to salute the city of Chicago in this assembly where all classes of society are represented. This assembly reminds me of France at the moment of declaration of war in August, 1914. The Germans had assailed us in a brutal attack, hoping within a short time to destroy France by many barbarous blows. The danger was caught in the act."

"All the French people ran to the border. The farmer, the workman, in fact all the French people were standing at the border. The fight was hard but at last we were successful and stopped the enemy. The Battle of the Marne stopped them completely at that time."

"We were in need of munitions. We were in need of guns and rifles. Then we took from the ranks of the army all the special workmen to make guns, bullets and bombs; and from that time the French army was comprised of those who fight at the front and those who make it possible to fight at the front. There is the army at the front and the army in the shops and factories; and it is from the army at the front and the army of the shops that I bring greeting to you."

Brings Greetings of Army

"I bring the greetings of the whole French army to the population of Chicago and above all to the workmen of the city among whom I am happy to find myself today. All French workmen are mobilized and all are working heart and soul in the common cause, each is accomplishing his duty in a victorious way. I am sure that all American workmen are one in heart with their brother workmen in France and are ready like them to fight for the final victory of democracy."

When the marshal of France rose to speak, he was given an ovation and despite efforts to quiet the throng the cheering lasted seven minutes.

Meanwhile Joffre stood stiffly at salute, moisture in his eyes. And when he had completed his address and the crowd again cheered madly his colleagues of the commission embraced him and congratulated him on the speech.

M. Viviani looked over the great amphitheater, smiling greetings to delegations of foreign citizens of the city who attended the meeting in costume, saluted the boy scouts, who filled an entire balcony and made his appeal directly to the working people.

Salutes Laboring Classes
"Citizens," he said, "I want for my first word coming into this great assembly, to salute your army already under arms. I salute your city, represented by the brothers of those who have already gone to the coast of France, and I want to thank and salute in the name of the French laboring classes, all the laboring classes I see before me here today, who have quit their work to come in here to hear the word of France."

"I salute all these workmen, belonging to different races who have come to this wonderful country—America, Slavs, Russians, Greeks, brothers of those who work now for the independence and emancipation of Russia and all those who have come to present us with salutes."

"I want in the name of France, to take advantage of the opportunity which has given me to answer one of the greatest calamities which have been made against us, that for a few months, we have tried to put you to

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

With the Strong Fortress of Laon as their objective French troops continue their brilliant advance toward the Ailette river from the heights above the Aisne, northeast of Soissons.

The Angle in the French line in front of Laifaux has been straightened out by an advance along a front of nearly four miles on the road from Soissons to Laon. Further east all the high land between Cerny and Craonne, a distance of six miles and the hills dominating the valley of the Ailette, are in the possession of General Nivelle's men.

The German resistance is declared to have been of a most desperate character, but the French maintained their advances and in addition to inflicting heavy losses on the Germans, took more than 4,300 prisoners on Saturday. The total prisoners taken during the operations in the same territory on Friday was 1,000.

In the operations about Laifaux the French carried a salient in the Hindenburg line of which Laon, twelve miles to the northeast is the strongest point in this territory. From Cerny to the Ailette river is three miles, and Laon lies about six miles directly north of the Ailette.

The advances of Friday and Saturday gave the French a grip on the Siegfried position of the Hindenburg line in the Laon region.

In Northern France, in the region of Arras, intense fighting has occurred around Bullecourt, but for the most part the British and Germans have engaged in artillery duels.

The outcome of the contradictory situation in Russia where nois has denounced members of the provisional government remains puzzling. Chief developments in Petrograd on Saturday were the adoption by the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates of a vote of confidence in the government and the forbidding by that council of all meetings or armed demonstrations for two days.

Premier Kokov and foreign Secretary Miliukoff have declared that the government will remain rather than recall the note sent on May day to the entente governments assuring them that Russia would vigorously prosecute the war.

The German Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, will make with in a fortnight a plainer declaration of Germany's peace conditions, according to an announcement by Dr. Carl Helfferich, the German vice-chancellor.

BALFOUR SPEAKS TO NATIONAL HOUSE

States World is Only Now Coming to Realize That Peace and Material Civilization May Bring the Greatest Possible Menace to Free Governments.

Washington, May 5.—Foreign Secretary Balfour speaking by invitation today before the house of representatives said the world only now was coming to realize that peace and material civilization may bring the greatest possible menace to free governments.

"When I was young," he said, "we used to flatter ourselves that progress inevitably meant peace, and that growth of knowledge was always accompanied by its natural fruit by the growth of good will. Unhappily we know better now and we know there is such a thing in the world as a power which can with unvarying persistency focus all resources of knowledge and of civilization into the one great task of making itself the moral and material master of the world. It is against that danger that we, the free peoples of Western Civilization have banded ourselves together."

The British statesman's words interpreted by many of his hearers as a warning against premature ending of the great war, were cheered by the representatives and crowded galleries. Among the applauding spectators was President Wilson who broke another presidential precedent by slipping unnoticed into a house gallery to hear the address.

Mr. Balfour, the first British official to speak in the halls of congress, delivered a war greeting from the British parliament and aroused his hearers to repeated applause by predicting that the cause of democracy surely shall conquer.

After his brief address he held a reception in the house.

GROENER DEFENDS HIS MAY DAY MANIFESTO

AMSTERDAM, via London, May 5.—A Berlin despatch says that General Groener, minister of munitions, defended before the Reichstag his May day manifesto to the workers. His defense was in answer to criticism by the Social Democrats.

Deputy Schoepflin, a Social Democrat, supported the minister and declared that the manifesto was necessary because "the German people were at a fatal parting of the ways, of which one led to defeat." The deputy said that no one must interfere between the army at home and in the field and that until the end of the war the working classes must remain absolutely calm.

FAIL TO AGREE ON ARMY DRAFT BILL

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Two meetings today of the senate and house conferees on the army draft bill failed to bring an agreement on any of the important differences. The conferees discussed briefly the maximum age for conscription, fixed in the house bill at 40 and in the senate bill at 27 years. It is the general belief that a compromise making the maximum not over 30 years eventually will be reached.

Naval Consulting Board Forwards Plans To Washington

TESTS ENCOURAGING

Head of Board States it Looks
As Tho the Submarine Problem
Has Been Solved

GIVES OWN OPINION

NEW YORK, May 5.—W. L. Saunders, chairman of the Naval Consulting Board, announced here today that the board had forwarded to Washington plans for dealing with the submarine problem, which, it was believed, had solved the problem successfully.

Experiments Encouraging.

Mr. Saunders, who has been chairman of the naval consulting board about two months, supplemented his announcement by saying that while the submarine problem cannot be considered in reality to have been solved until the U-boats have been destroyed nevertheless numerous experiments had been made along the Atlantic coast with highly encouraging results which led the board to feel confident that a successful solution had been reached.

"It looks as tho the submarine problem has been solved," Mr. Saunders said, "not only in theory but on the strength of practical tests on the Atlantic coast."

Believes Assertions Justified

Mr. Saunders added that 500 inventions for U-boat suppression had been submitted for consideration of the board and experiments with many of them justified, he believed the assertion that means had been found by which the submarine peril could be eliminated.

Mr. Saunders was unwilling to go into further details of the board's experiments, all data on the subject having been forwarded to Washington, but he said the public had a right to be informed of the progress made toward nullifying the depredations of the German under sea craft.

Robbins Gives Out Statement.

As the official spokesman of the naval consulting board, Thomas Robbins gave out this statement tonight in reference to Mr. Saunders' announcement:

"If Mr. Saunders is correctly quoted as saying that some American genius has perfected an invention which will clear the water of submarines, he must have knowledge of some invention which is not known to me nor to the other members of the board. We are still searching for exactly that kind of invention."

In a later statement Mr. Saunders reiterated the belief that the plans formulated would prove effective in dealing with submarines, but made it plain that he was merely voicing his personal opinion.

Has Not Reached Daniels.

Washington, May 5.—The report of the naval consulting board on devices to overcome German submarines had not reached Secretary Daniels tonight and while officials here hoped the problem had been solved, it was made clear that the judgment of the department would be withheld until there was a successful demonstration of the invention in action.

Altho making no predictions naval officers expressed great confidence in the ability of the board which aided in some instances by naval experts, has been following up every hint as to ways and means of checking the under-sea peril. The members include men of international renown as inventors and scientists.

Mr. Saunders is known to have been following personally an investigation of the submarine question. No hint of the devices suggested by the board will be made public when the report is received. Secretary Daniels today deprecated speculations as to ways and means to be employed against submarines on the ground that information of what was planned might reach Germany.

ANNOUNCE PLANS TO BRING WOMEN TOGETHER

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Plans for bringing together women's organizations that desire to do patriotic work were announced today by the woman's committee of the council of national defense. State chairmen will call conferences of representatives of the societies to discuss coordination of their efforts. An appeal sent out today to women organizations by the committee urged that all women concentrate on food production and conservation and that everywhere women combine to keep life steady, normal and sane.

SUBSCRIPTIONS SWAMP NATIONAL TREASURY

Pace is Quickened to Almost $500,000 a Minute

Two Billion Dollar Offering Will Be Over-Subscribed Beyond All Previous Estimates—Compilation of Actual Amount Saturday Beyond Physical Possibility

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The treasury was buried today beneath an avalanche of subscriptions to the liberty loan. Yesterday's pace of $3,000,000 an hour was quickened to almost $500,000 a minute and it became apparent that the $2,000,000,000 offering would be over-subscribed beyond all previous estimates.

Thousands to Be Listed

Compilation of the actual amount of subscriptions received today was beyond physical possibility with the present working staff. Probably one fourth of the offering already has been spoken for. Officials listed subscriptions received up to 2 p. m., permitting the large bundles of telegrams received thereafter to accumulate and found that during the six hours of working time that had elapsed since the last compilation the country had subscribed to $172,983,000 additional bringing the grand total for the two days up to $311,651,000 exclusive of thousands of replies yet to be listed.

Should the present rate be maintained the banks and their customers will have subscribed to approximately $45,000,000,000 worth of bonds, an oversubscription of more than 200 per cent.

As many of the larger financial institutions have telegraphed their subscriptions however, officials are inclined to believe that the present rate will hardly be maintained.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Subscribes

Replies to the offering received today came from virtually every part of the world, where the American flag is flown—Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippines proved that they are not financial slackers by cabling substantial subscriptions. Fairbanks, Alaska, the northernmost city in the western world, telegraphed a $50,000 subscription. From every state in the union the reply was overwhelming.

New York, the country's financial stronghold, sent subscriptions totaling $53,000,000 bringing its two days total up to $116,890,000.

A New York lawyer took $1,000,000 worth and three sisters made a joint subscription of $300,000.

Individual subscriptions of $1,000,000 each were received from Chicago, New Orleans and Toledo.

Labor Involved Great

Subscriptions have been tabulated from approximately 1,500 and of the 27,500 banks of the country, the other 26,000 not having been heard from or their replies having been received later than 2 p. m. today. So great was the labor involved in distributing the subscription geographically and tabulating them that officials decided to discontinue doing so for the present at least until a large force can be obtained.

Included in the tabulation by states, the two day total of subscriptions are the following:

Illinois ..... $26,292,000

Indiana ..... 9,940,000

Iowa ..... 2,372,000

Missouri ..... 2,276,000

TRUSTEES MAKE GIFTS

AGGREGATING $750,000
DECATUR, Ill., May 5.—Gifts aggregating $750,000 were made today by the trustees of the estate of the late James Millikin.

An offer of $600,000 was made to the Decatur College and Industrial school of the James Millikin University on provision that the Presbyterian church of the United States or other persons or associations would raise $400,000 within the next five years toward a total endowment of $1,200,000.

Fifty thousand dollars was also given to the Decatur college for running expenses and equipment. The gifts of the trustees were fully sanctioned and approved by Judge W. K. Whitfield in the Macon county circuit court.

One hundred thousand dollars was given to the Decatur and Macon county hospital for a new wing which will be built at once.

APPEALS TO PEOPLE

PETROGRAD, May 5.—via London.—In consequence of the disorders which occurred yesterday in Petrograd the executive committee of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates has decided unanimously to forbid all public meetings and demonstrations for the next two days. Any one who incites the people to take part in any demonstrations or fires a shot will be regarded as a traitor to the cause of the revolution.

Will Submit Causes.

The committee will submit to the council for investigation the causes leading to the firing of shots in the streets yesterday. The executive committee has placarded the streets with a proclamation appealing to the people to maintain calm, order and discipline and calling upon the soldiers not to go out carrying arms and to obey only orders bearing the official signature of the executive council. The proclamation also appeals to the workmen and soldiers not to take part in public meetings or demonstrations while carrying arms.

Puts End to Interpretations.

Petrograd, May 5.—via London.—The sitting of the grand council of the workmen's and soldiers' delegates ended late last night after the delegates had discussed a supplementary communication from the provisional government explaining the note of May 1 to the allies. The council passed a resolution declaring that the government's new note, which it will send to the allies, puts an end to all interpretations of the note of May 1, contrary to the interests and aims of the revolutionary democracy. Another resolution was adopted declaring that the policy of annexation for the first time has been made the subject of international discussions and this fact should be considered an important victory for democracy. The resolution concluded:

"The executive committee while asserting its unalterable determination not to make peace except on these conditions appeals to the entire revolutionary democracy of Russia to rally around the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates and declare its firm assurance that the peoples of all the belligerent countries will be able to overcome the resistance of their governments and force them to enter upon negotiations for peace on the basis of the renunciation of all annexations and indemnities."

Explanation of Note of May 1.

The explanation of the note of May 1, which the provisional government gave to the council and which will be forwarded to the allied governments follows:

"The note was subjected to long and detailed examination by the provisional government and was unanimously approved. It was obvious that this note, in speaking of a decisive victory, had in view a solution of the problems which were mentioned in the communication of April 9 and which was thus specified:

"The government deems it to be its right and duty to declare now that free Russia does not aim at the domination of other nations or depriving them of their national patrimony, or at occupying by force foreign territories, but that its object is to establish a durable peace on the basis of rights of nations to decide their own destiny. The Russian nation does not last after the strengthening of its power abroad at the expense of other nations; its aim is not to subjugate or humiliate any one. In

There is a good deal of testimony that Germany is far from defeated and that a vast system of efficiency has been organized in the news that a million children from the cities will be put on German farms. True, they cannot work as much as adults, but they will thus at least become self-supporting and will aid in supplying the great deficiency of farm labor which menaces the German government.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Count Von Tarnow who as ambassador to the U. S. from Austria was not received, before sailing for his home, advised his countrymen here "to honor the land whose hospitality they enjoyed and in which they earned their livelihood." This statement gave evidence of the count's broadmindedness and also that he sensed conditions here. Austrians and other foreigners friendly to enemies of the U. S. are safe just so long as they attend to their own business and keep their mouths shut.

TREASON LAW A CENSORSHIP PROVISION

The censoring measure of the espionage bill is causing a good deal of anxiety among newspaper publishers. The opinion of a great many is voiced in the thought that the government's laws for the punishment of treason gives ample protection in the present instance. No citizens outstrip the newspaper owners and editors in loyalty and they can be depended upon not to publish matter which is detrimental to the government in that it aids or gives comfort to the enemy. If by some chance an act of this kind is performed the remedy is at hand and prompt punishment for treason can be administered.

IN MADISON COUNTY.

In Madison county they evidently have a lot of lawbreakers and a state's attorney who is efficient and probably sad. The efficiency appears from the record of this official, as in the past year he has collected fines amounting to $19,444 and fees to the amount of $1,275. There were forty-two prosecutions for illegal sale of liquor, with fines amounting to $4,360, and in two gambling houses cases the fines collected were $1,000 each. The sadness as a characteristic is presumed because the state's attorney's office is now a salaried position in accordance with the state law, instead of a fee office, a condition which existed for many years.

TARIFF QUESTION STILL WITH US

Even in these war like times, when the international situation is the one great theme of consideration, the tariff question will not down. It is said that members of the new tariff commission will visit Great Britain, France, Russia, China, Japan and some other countries this summer to investigate trade and tariff problems which the U. S. must face after the war.

There will be a far-reaching investigation of trade relations, commercial treaties and preferential provisions. Incidentally it is probable that the information thus received will be advantageous not only after the war but before peace is concluded, and the information may be used as the basis for some of the peace agreements.

OIL SUPPLY FOR NAVY.

News was received from Washington, that an agreement had been made between the oil interests of the United States and the Government whereby the latter was assured of a continuous supply of gasoline and other petroleum products during the war for the operations of the Navy. The arrangement was proposed some time ago, and was entered into heartily by the members of the oil industry. The cost of the oil is to be reasonable, and the amount will be sufficient to meet all requirements.

To carry out the purpose a committee of seven has been appointed, which is headed by A. C. Bedford, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. This committee will act with another composed of government officials, and the two will constitute the petroleum defense council.

The petroleum resources of the country will be mobilized to meet the demand, and the stocks so guarded that an ample supply will be assured at all times for the Navy. To accomplish this it may be necessary to limit the consumption of gasoline for other uses somewhat, tho this is merely a tentative suggestion at the present. As the Oil City Derrick puts it, "At any rate the government will be supplied and with Mr. Bedford at the head of the committee the country will be assured that all the resources of the Standard, supplemented by the other oil interests, will be at the command of the Navy."

THE ECONOMY DANGER.

On this question of the possibility of excessive economy having its bad effect on the conditions of the country, a communication to a Chicago paper sums up the situation in this vein:

"One of the worst features of this war is the spirit almost everywhere manifested to economize and thus induce the disarrangement of business interests, great and small. For five years or more has country, for five years or more has had prosperity more universal than any other nation on earth, and our lands have not grown less fertile. One state, Texas, has the capacity to feed the entire United States. Congress has appropriated $7,000,000,000 to be spent for labor and products in this country; bank vaults are loaded with the savings of our people. With greater productive capacity, greater labor-saving inventions and millions of acres being broken for seed and countless millions still unused, why this cry of economy? Business is already beginning to suffer from such senseless advice as not to buy high priced candy, to make one yard of cloth do the work of two, to postpone the making of good roads, to stop public improvements, to cease frosting cakes, to wear last year's hats and shoes.

"Millions will be thrown out of employment if this ignorant due and cry for economy is continued. It is up to our city daily papers to allay fear and put a stop to alarm and thus avert a senseless panic—by teaching the difference between conservation and waste."

THE FLAG RAISING

Raise to the flagstaff that banner of glory.
Loose its bright folds that outward they fly;
Give to the breezes those colors of glory,
Peantous emblem to sweep thru the sky.

Raise to the flag-staff those stars of our story,
Studding like diamonds that bright field of blue,
Round to the crimson and white of Old Glory;
That is the flag for me and for you.

Raise to the flagstaff, so famed now in story,
Victor o'er land and o'er sea in the wars,
Rippling afar o'er the world in its glory,
Columbia's banner of immortal stars.

—S. A. Hughes.

Feeding the World

It's up to you, oh, Mr. Farmer, altho you pack no sword or armor, to win this crucial fight, for you must feed the allied nations, provide the millions with their rations, so huckle, day and night. Now, keep the husky hired men jumping, and see that all your mules are humping, do things with ordered haste; let every foot of soil be growing some harvest for your future mowing, let no land go to waste. For every time you raise a pumpkin you sweat, some cultured Prussian humpkin who lacks enough to eat; you push a harpoon in the kaiser, and make his noblets sadder, wiser, when'er you raise a beet. Our Uncle Samuel indorses the man who leaves a swath of corpses behind him as he scrapes; but he who raises wheat and barley will soak those kaisers, Bill and Charley, and change a lot of maps. Not all of us can seek the rattle, for some of us must feed the cattle, and stop the shrieking swine; and it is good to know our labors will help the men who wield the sabres, and form the battle line. So let us not be heavy hearted if younger fellows have departed for great and thrilling scenes; for we can aid our country's legions who face the foe in distant regions, by raising spuds and beans.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

May 6, 1818—Armory at Fort Massac, Missouri Republican in allusion to the subject of the armory at Massac says: "The delay of Congress to make an appropriation for the erection of an armory at Fort Massac in Illinois—the site selected some years since for that purpose—has induced many persons, with some show of reason, to suppose, that it was the intention of the Government to abandon that location. Under this impression we notice that a memorial has been started asking Congress to locate the armory at Ohio City, a rising town at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, in Missouri.

SURGEONS READY FOR ANY NEEDED SERVICE

Dr. Carl Black Tells of Dominant Spirit at Meeting of Chicago Surgical Society.

Dr. Carl E. Black returned Saturday morning from Chicago, where he went to attend a meeting of the Chicago Surgical society. As would be expected, talk about the war was dominant at every session. It was very apparent that the great majority of the surgeons of the state are ready to do their part altho many of them have not determined in just what branch they can accomplish the most good. It was shown that surgeons are needed for the army here and that England and France are very short of surgeons. There are several branches of work for the surgeon in base and home hospitals, in the medical reserve corps, traveling with the regiments and still others must remain at home to take care of cases there.

The age limit of the medical reserve corps is 55, but because of the existing need this rule has not been rigorously enforced and a number of physicians have enlisted, who are as the 55 mark. It was mentioned at the meeting that the government has taken the wise action of barring medical students and professors from enlistment in the work. This is done because of the feeling that these students of today will be the physicians and surgeons of tomorrow and to call on them now would be mortgaging the future. At any rate it can be stated that the surgeons are all casting about in an effort to determine where they can render the best service.

MRS. ESTILL TO MAKE ADDRESSES TODAY.

As previously mentioned, Mrs. Estill, wife of Commissioner Thome, Estill of the Salvation Army, is here for a brief campaign for the local army work. Last night a concert program was given at the barracks and this morning Mrs. Estill will deliver her lecture, "Broken Womanhood" at the Central Christian church at 10:30 o'clock. Tonight there will be a special service at the barracks when Mrs. Estill will speak again.

This visitor to Jacksonville has an important message and she is well qualified to deliver it. Mrs. Estill is a woman of great person, charm and has had unusual educational advantages. While engaged with her husband in their present work she has labored on five continents and is familiar in a large way with world conditions.

PARK BOARD DIFFERENCES.

Another development in the differences between the park board and Cosgriff Bros. over the refreshment concession at Nicholas park came Saturday. Mrs. Hollinger, Mrs. Weith and Joseph Gomez, members of the board, requested Dan Kelly, and Policeman Trahey to remove from the pavilion the belongings of Cosgriff Bros. These men did not feel that they had authority to take such action and then, by direction of the board members, a look was attached to the pavilion door. Mr. Cosgriff stated last night for publication that he intends to file a damage suit Monday for the sum of $5,000.

ENLISTMENTS STILL COME RAPIDLY

Local Young Men Ready for Every Branch of Service—Coast Artillery Has Full Quota

Enlistments for army service from Jacksonville and vicinity have come with a rush during recent days. Ever since Sergeant Hanson came from Peoria to open a federal recruiting station here his office at the post-office building has been thronged. A number of actual enlistments have already been mentioned and numerous other young men have been interviewed the sergeant getting facts about various branches of the service. He developed Saturday that a number of the young men who had previously enlisted for the coast artillery must transfer their request for service to some other branch, or must go on the waiting list of the coast artillery. Much to the disappointment of the young men Sergeant Hanson received instructions Saturday not to accept any enlistments for this arm of the service except from former soldiers, as the artillery is now recruited to its full strength.

In addition to the men who have visited this recruiting office a number have been going to Springfield to take the examination under Colonel Lewis for entrance to the officers' training camp. Lieut. Dickson of Company B, 5th Illinois National Guard, has also been busy in the armory and has secured a number of enlistments. There is still opportunity for service in this company and recruits are wanted.

On Saturday Sergt. Hanson recruited the following men:

Infantry
Clarence H. Sanders, Marshallville.

Engineering Corps
Floyd H. Tyson, Petersburg, Canada.

Cavalry
Thomas C. Patton, Mark B. Hunt and R. J. Brown, Jacksonville.

All of these men will leave immediately for the stations assigned them.

Lieut. Dickson has made the following enlistments:

Ralph Hudson, Virginia; Daniel Sullivan, Pittsfield; George Wilke, Jay Prairie; Carl Carlson, Earl Hare, Harold H. Hurd, Frank Merrill, Russell McConnell, Allan Stuart, Frank Ledford, Joseph Ryan and Arthur Harmon, Jacksonville.

Arthur Mendonza and Harold McGinnis were in Springfield Saturday and passed examination for the officers' training camp.

Mr. McGinnis, it is understood, desires to serve in the quartermasters' department and has qualified as a stenographer. Thomas C. Patton, who enlisted in the cavalry, has for some years been an employee of W. W. Gillham and Mark B. Hunt has been connected with the Andre & Andre store. Among others who are said to have made applications for admission to some branch of the service are Wood Phillips, Arthur Henderson and Russell Fean. An erroneous statement was made Saturday that Hugh Green had made application for admittance to the officers' training camp. Mr. Green said last night that this report was not correct. It is possible that he may seek admittance to another branch of the service at a later date.

The young people will make their home on West Morton avenue.

Archie L. Grandjean and Miss Alberta Brown, both of New Berlin, were married Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock by Judge W. E. Thompson at his office in the Duncan building. The party arrived by automobile, securing the license after closing hours thru the courtesy of one of the county clerk's deputies.

The district in which Jacksonville and Morgan county is located has raised a total of $7,320. The amount allotted to the district is $10,000. The amount so far raised is not quite a third of the total required. No report will be made now until next Tuesday night. The local association is going to make a strenuous effort for that report.

MORTUARY

Bradbury.

Mrs. George L. Hoover of 240 East College street received a telegram Saturday announcing the death of her sister, Mrs. Sarah Bradbury, which occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. B. Mundorf, in Kansas City, Mo., Saturday morning.

The message did not tell of the cause of death. No word had been received of Mrs. Bradbury's illness and it is thought that death came suddenly.

Deceased was the daughter of James S. and Mary Hurst and was born in this city in 1849. She grew to womanhood here and was united in marriage to Robert A. Bradbury in 1864. To this union three children were born. The husband died more than twenty years ago and the son Charles T. Bradbury preceded her in death nine months ago. Two daughters survive. Mrs. C. B. Mundorf of Kansas City and Mrs. G. T. Thrasher of San Francisco. One sister, Mrs. George L. Hoover, and one brother, James S. Hurst both of this city also survive.

Mrs. Bradbury was a member of one of the oldest and best known families in Jacksonville. For a number of years she has made her home in Kansas City with her daughter, tho she has made frequent visits to Jacksonville. She was a woman of kindly disposition and had many friends who will mourn her loss. She was member of the Christian church and of Rehekah lodge No. 13 of this city.

The remains will be brought to this city for burial. Funeral services will be held from the home of her sister, Mrs. George L. Hoover in charge of the Rev. Myron L. Pontius, pastor of Central Christian church. The time will be announced later.

SOUVENIRS OF CITY.

SOO. FROM PRESS.

It is probable that the souvenir book of Jacksonville, now being published by H. R. Fish of Indianapolis, will be ready for delivery in three weeks, as it is now in the hands of the printer. The book will contain 108 pages and 5 folding streamers, and will have a circulation of over 5,000. It will contain half tone illustrations of local public buildings, schools, churches, institutions, street scenes, all wholesale and manufacturing establishments, retail houses, sanatoriums, colleges, etc., together with over forty of Jacksonville's handsome residences.

All those desiring copies should place their orders at once as the edition is limited. Orders may be placed either with Mr. Fish or Chamber of Commerce.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Miscellaneous. Shower for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

A short time since Arthur Swain invited to his pleasant home near Sinclair the members and friends of his Sunday school class numbering nearly thirty, to entertain Mr. and Mrs. Newton Wilson with a miscellaneous rush. The evening was most delightfully spent and the whole affair was a great success. The table was decorated handsomely and the initials of the bride and groom, "W" and "B" were noticeable. A large white ribbon passed thru the mouth of a dove and ended in boats and on each side of the dove were the letters "W" and "B", and in each end of the ribbons was a large bouquet of carnations. There were numerous wafers in pink and white distributed among the guests and on the wafers were the initials "W" and "B". The evening was partly social and partly devoted to speeches and music and everyone enjoyed a delightful time. The presents were humorous, numerous and very useful, comprising all sorts of tools useful for a man and articles for a lady in the house. The refreshments were also in keeping with the occasion.

Pleasant Hour Club With Mrs. Cridland.

The Pleasant Hour Club met with Mrs. James Cridland on South Church street Saturday afternoon. After the election of officers and regular routine business a dainty two course luncheon was served. The officers elected were as follows: President—Mrs. D. T. Reinlich. Vice president—Mrs. Fell. Secretary—Mrs. James Cridland. Treasurer—Mrs. Anna Brown. The meeting adjourned to meet sometime in June with Mrs. J. W. Sperry on Rount street.

Entertained Limited Company.

Miss Jennie Grassly, 857 South Clay avenue entertained a company of friends Saturday evening in honor of E. H. Converse of Vermont. Mr. Converse was a member of a party which included a number of Jacksonville people who traveled extensively in the old world a few years ago. Naturally much of the time Saturday evening was devoted to reminiscences of that happy period of travel. In a guessing contest which was a part of the social program of the evening the honors went to Miss Marie Finney and Mr. Converse. Refreshments were in keeping with other generous appointments and the evening was one of great pleasure.

IN BEARDSTOWN

Announcement has been made that the Jenkinson-Bode company, wholesale grocers, have established a plant at Beardstown. It is a distinct concern but will be managed by Mr. Bode from the Jacksonville office. Beardstown is a good distributing point for a number of places on the Burlington railroad and on the B. & O. S. W., and the management believes that the plant will fit in nicely with their business arrangements. The Jenkinson-Bode company and their associates are interested in a series of wholesale grocery houses, each one being independently owned.

REGISTRATION METHODSPlace Whole Task in Hands of Civilian OfficialsWar Department Appeals for Voluntary Services of State Election and Other Officials in Order That There Will be no Delay in Enrolling and Classifying Men.

Washington, May 5.—An official outline of the method by which military registration is to be carried out under the selective conscription bill, was made public today, with an appeal from the War Department for the voluntary services of state election and other officials in order that there will be no delay in enrolling and classifying millions of men for army duty. Careful preparation has been made to place the whole task in the hands of civilian officials of the states and to remove every suggestion of military force in putting the measure into effect. The only function of the Federal government will be the supervision through the office of the Provost Marshal General. The Department's statement follows:

Department's Statement
"There was a time in the country's history when military enumerators, backed by bayonets, went out among the people to take a compulsory census. Today under the principle of universal liability to service the execution of the law is put into the hands of the people.
"The approval of the new national army bill and the president's proclamation thereunder will be coincident. All persons with in the age limits prescribed will be required to present themselves for registration at the customary voting places in the voting precincts in which they have their permanent homes, on a day which the President will announce. The probability is, that from ten to fifteen days will elapse between the approval of the bill and registration day.

"The governor of each state will be the chief of registration therein. The machinery of registration in each county is to be in charge of the sheriff, the county clerk, and the county physician, acting ex-officio, unless a different board shall be announced by the governor. In cities containing populations of more than 20,000, the registration will be under control of the mayor and selected boards of registration. In order that the designated county and city officials, and the people generally, can get a clear understanding of the census methods the following brief outline is given:

"The sheriffs or other designated officials, immediately upon receiving notice from the governor, shall appoint registrars for each voting precinct.

One Registrar for Each 170
"The proportion of registrars shall be one for each 170 persons to be registered. Each age to be registered will comprise about 1% of the population. If, for instance, all men between 19 and 25 years of age, inclusive, are to be registered, the registrar would have to enroll about 7 per cent of the precinct population.

"It is desirable to accept the services of competent volunteer registrars to serve without compensation. All registrars must be sworn.

"The voting place in each precinct must be prepared for registration. Full printed instructions covering every detail of registration will be in the hands of sheriffs and mayors on the fifth day after the President's proclamation.

"The mayor of a city containing more than 30,000 inhabitants, or the officials designated by the governor therein, shall, with the approval of the governor, appoint for each ward or convenient minor subdivision containing about 30,000 people one registration board, and shall designate one officer of each board to perform duties similar to those imposed on the sheriff, as herebefore outlined. If the mayor desires he may appoint a central board to coordinate the work of the minor boards.

Must Secure Supplies
"On the fifth day after the President has issued his proclamation, clerks of counties and cities of over 30,000 must secure a supply of blanks and copies of the registration regulations from the sheriff or the mayor. Absentees and the sick will apply to such clerks to have their registration cards filled out. In no case shall such person be given registration certificates. They are to be instructed by the clerk that the burden is on them to see to it that the cards reach the registrars of their home precincts by registration day.

"Persons absent from their home counties may be registered by mail. If so absent, a man should go to the clerk of the county where he may be staying, on the sixth day after the date of the President's proclamation. If he is in a city of over 30,000 population, the city clerk is the official to whom to apply. The absentee will be told how to register, but he must mail his card in time to reach his precinct by registration day.

"Persons too sick to present themselves for registration must send a competent person to the county or city clerk on the sixth day after the issuing of the proclamation. The clerk will give instructions for registration.
"Officials of educational, charitable and other institutions should apply for instructions to the county or city clerk on the sixth day after the date of the proclamation for instructions as to a convenient method of registration.Shall Apply for Instructions
"The wardens of jails, penitentiaries, and reformatories should apply to the county or city clerk for instructions on the sixth day.

"Five days after the date of the President's proclamation, complete regulations will be in the hands of all sheriffs and of the officials of cities of over 30,000 population.

"The President is authorized to call upon all public officers to assist in the execution of the law. The plan is, however, to rely on the people for the proper execution of the law. It is expected that patriotic citizens will offer their services free as registrars. Such services will be gratefully acknowledged. Volunteers for this service should communicate immediately with the proper official."

Clubs of the County Will Attend
Confederation Meeting Thursday and Friday—Big Subjects for Consideration This Year.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Illinois Confederation of Women's club's Twentieth Congressional district, will be perhaps the most significant gathering of its kind in recent years. Women of Havana have spared no pains in preparing for the arrival of the visitors and when the delegates assemble Thursday morning for the first session the stage will be set for a two-day gathering of more than usual activity. Questions of economy in the home, emphasized by war times, will come in public health, all the more important at this time, will not be slighted. The work of the civic department, always important, will not lack in interest as there are a number of matters with regard to present legislation which will be submitted for endorsement or reensure of the convention.

Altho the convention proper will not open until Thursday, May 10, there will be no executive board meeting the evening before and Jacksonville women who hold office in the federation will be present at that time. Mrs. Edgar O. Glandon of Pittsfield, district president, recently appointed Miss Maria Fairbank as confederation representative on the state centennial commission and Miss Fairbank will make a report of this work to the convention. Mrs. P. J. Pinner is chairman of the committee on resolutions and Miss Annie Hinrichsen has supervision of the district press committee. Mrs. J. K. C. Pierson is chairman of the civil service committee. The report of club work in Morgan county will be made by Mrs. Ben Lorton, district vice president.

Ribot Declares "Germany Feels it and That is Why She Multiplies
Her Manoeuvres to Obtain an Im-

Paris, May 5.—Alexandre Ribot, the French premier, in addressing today French representatives of the British, French and Italian parliaments attending an international congress here referred to the significance of the gathering of delegates from countries representing liberal ideas and expressed the hope that the United States, Russia and other entente allies would soon join in the manifestations of allies solidarity. Referring to the status of the war today he said:

"Can Feet Enemy's Exhaustion
"While the war is unfinished, it is approaching its denouement. The enemy still is struggling desperately but we can feel his gradual exhaustion and discouragement. A calm examination of the military situation shows what a great change our advantage has been wrought within a year. Then we were meeting the German offensive by the valor of our forces at Verdun.
"Now it is no longer, they, but we who are attacking. We are forcing the enemy to recoil."

sleep, making you believe that the actual war was a war of capital, that we were fighting to make money. Do you think if it was true all your brothers would have rushed to the front to fight for the flag? Do you think the French laboring men and all working classes would have taken the interest in it that they did take?

Not a War of Conquest

"It is not a war of conquest. It is not a war where France and her allies wish to acquire territory. It is a war for humanity and democracy. That is why in answer to the call of the speakers you have heard here belonging to your own nation, you will stand together to enter this war to help France and her allies to fight to avenge the soldiers of the Marine, who fought for right and justice. You will come and join the ranks of the people who have fought for three years against Germany. All the citizens who are ready to fight for justice go to the battlefields of liberty. That is where was conceived the greatness of Washington.

"As one of the speakers, a few moments ago, said: 'No man has a right to live for himself; no man has a right to die for himself. He owes his life to liberty and democracy.'

"Vive L'Amerique, vive L'France."
Marshal Joffre, former Premier Viviani and other members of the French commission bade good bye to Chicago tonight and departed on their special government train for Kansas City, where they are due tomorrow morning. They will halt at St. Louis tomorrow night and visit Springfield, Ill., on Monday.

SETTLE STRIKE OF BAKERY WAGON DRIVERS

CHICAGO, May 5.—Pleas by United States District Attorney Charles F. Clynch tonight resulted in an agreement which it is believed will settle the bakery wagon drivers' strike and put an end to difficulties in handling bread supply.

A committee representing the Chicago Master Baker's association agreed to increase the minimum weekly wage of the drivers from $21 to $23 and to increase the commission paid the drivers from six per cent to seven per cent on all sales in excess of $225 weekly.

The drivers' strike was co-incidental with the recently settled bakers' strike.

APPEALS TO YOUTH TO TAKE UP TELEGRAPHY

WASHINGTON, May 5.—An appeal to young men and women to take up telegraphy was issued tonight by the war department which announced that the Western Union Telegraph company had agreed to undertake the training of 2,500 telegraphers to recruit the signal corps and take the places of commercial operators called to the colors.

The department's statement calls attention to the fact that modern telegraphy offers a good opportunity to young women. With the introduction of automatic sending and receiving machines, a key board similar to a typewriter replaces the ordinary telegraph key and the skill to operate this is easily acquired.

RABBITS ARE PLENTIFUL

C. M. Coons, east of Jacksonville, was in the city Saturday and remarked on the vast increase in rabbits since the new law went into effect. He said in passing along his wheat field in a small space he saw nine, many half grown young ones in the number, cavorting around evidently aware of the game law, which protects their lives, and he said they could almost be knocked over with a club when the season opens, altho the high price of ammunition may be something of a protection to the young creatures.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA DELIGHTED AUDIENCE

Minneapolis Organization Furnished Splendid Programs Saturday Afternoon and Evening—"Star Spangled Banner" Played as Finale While People Cheered.

Saturday afternoon and evening Jacksonville was given perhaps the greatest musical treat of the season. The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Mr. Oberholfer and assisted by six soloists gave two concerts. In the Grand Opera House, the first beginning at 2:30 and the second at 8:15. This wonderful orchestra has a world-wide reputation and needless to say Jacksonville music lovers gave it an enthusiastic welcome.

Favored with such choice programs rendered by so noted an organization, it follows quite naturally that the only comment that may be made is that we should congratulate ourselves for having a city with sufficient enthusiasm to give hearty support to so worthy a performance and also for having men like Mr. Harold Johnson to bring to Jacksonville such high musical art.

Mr. Oberholfer and his fellow performers were generous with encores in both the afternoon and evening concerts and showed that they felt appreciation given them.

Because of the illness of Charles Harrison, the tenor soloist, Mr. Proctor of the Chicago Opera company sang the Faust aria "All Hail Thou Dwellings, Pure and Lowly."

The evening performance was brought to a brilliant close when the orchestra struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." The audience rising and giving hearty response.

It is to be hoped that promoters and patrons of good music in this city will make it possible to have en-tainments of this class more frequently, and that our people will give them abundant support.

It goes without saying that Mr. Stead is well satisfied with the result of that campaign, for the Lowden administration is "making good" in a most vigorous and notable way.

FUNERAL OF MRS. OSBORNE HELD AT MURRAYVILLE

Services Held at Methodist Church Were Largely Attended—Deceased Spent Nearly all of Long Life in Murrayville Community.

A very large company assembled for the funeral services of the late Mrs. Maria Osborne which was held at the Methodist church in Murrayville Saturday afternoon.

The services were in charge of Rev. W. H. McGhee, pastor of the church where Mrs. Osborne had held membership for more than sixty years. The minister took as a text the familiar verses from the 14th chapter of John beginning with the words, "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I would have told you."

Mr. McGhee read the obituary setting forth the principal facts of Mrs. Osborne's long and useful life. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Phillips, were natives of Hartford, Conn., and came to this county in early days settling east of Jacksonville in what was known as Dietrich's Prairie. When Mrs. Osborne was a child of eight she removed with her parents to Greasy Prairie, not many miles from Murrayville. That was her girlhood home and after her marriage to Mr. Osborne they lived for many years in that same locality. About twenty years ago they changed their home from the country to village of Murrayville and were among the best known residents there.

Mrs. Osborne was the mother of thirteen children, eleven of whom survive. It is noteworthy in such a large family that all of the sons and daughters have come to maturity and have lived in such a way that they have the high opinion of all in the respective communities in which they reside.

The minister referred to the strong and helpful way in which Mrs. Osborne had lived. Although she had the care of raising such a large family her influence for good was felt in the community and many neighborly acts of love and devotion have been written into the record of her life. Strong in both mind and body, Mrs. Osborne ever thought that "it is better to wear out than to rust out." It was this ideal of life that contributed quite largely to her spirit and it was only during a comparatively few months that the feebleness of old age was strongly evidenced. Services for others made up her religion of both church, community and home and as she gave unsparringly of her strength and time the story of her life became one long record of earnest industry.

It was before her marriage as a young woman that Mrs. Osborne was converted in a revival service conducted by Rev. J. C. Sargent and at that time she became a member of the Methodist church and gave it unflinching allegiance during all the years that followed. The minister said that the death of this good woman brought sorrow to many hearts and to countless friends, aside from the near relatives, but he pointed out that they did not sorrow as those who have no hope, for Mrs. Osborne had so lived that for her the reward of eternal life was sure.

Musical for the occasion was furnished by a quartet including Misses Iva Short, Stella Cunningham, Messrs. George Coultas and Warren Wright. There were many beautiful flowers and these were cared for by granddaughters of Mrs. Osborne, who were Misses Edna, Gladys and Hilda Osborne and May Blakeman. Interment was in Murrayville cemetery and the bearers were H. B. Rimbe, R. A. Phillips, Charles Sullivan, J. T. Osborne, H. B. Osborne and Charles Harper of Coats, Kans.

HAZEL DELL SCHOOL CLOSED WITH PICNIC

Hazel Dell school, near Sinclair, was closed Friday with a basket dinner and program by the children. Many patrons were present and the event was an enjoyable one for all. On account of the cool weather the dinner was held indoors, but this did not detract from the picnic spirit. Miss Serena Connolly, teacher of the school, has been re-employed. The salary specified, $70 per month, is an increase of $10 over that received by Miss Connolly this year.

MONUMENT ASSOCIATION TO GO BEFORE COUNCIL

Will Appear in a Body Monday Forenoon to Request Location of Soldiers' Memorial in Central Park—May Offer Prizes for Approved Designs

The Soldiers' Monument association met yesterday morning with Major C. E. McDougall, chairman, presiding, and in the absence of the secretary, Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp, S. W. Nichols was requested to serve. There were also present Judge M. T. Layman, J. H. Self, W. H. Jordan, Capt. John L. Wright, C. R. Taylor and the county commissioners, Messrs. Rogge, Wilson and Macmillan.

The chair stated that one great obstacle in the way of securing an answer from the city council was the fact that no design had been presented, and the talk was all the time "to show us what you are going to have and we will consider it." Therefore in order to gratify the request of the council Major McDougall and Dr. Rammelkamp had applied to the governor to request the services of the state art commission in securing a design which could not fail to meet every requirement of beauty, of ornament, of suitability in every respect for such a structure. And they had presented the same to the mayor and asked him if the council would consider the request of the veterans to place the monument in the park if they would undertake to have such a structure that the state officials would approve for selection, as that certainly was the highest authority known in the country. The interview was personal and the mayor stated that the whole council would have to act in the matter. The following correspondence was submitted:

From State Authorities

"State of Illinois, Executive Dept., Springfield, Ill., April 23, 1917.
"My Dear Mr. McDougall:

"The governor directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 17, with reference to selecting a suitable design and plans for the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument of Morgan county. He has today referred your letter to the state art commission for their consideration."

"Very truly yours,

"G. D. Sutton,
"Secretary to the Governor."

The state art commission of Illinois is composed of Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Martin Roche, Hugh S. Magill, Jr., Lorado Taft, Ralph Clarkson, Frederick C. Bartlett, J. C. Vaughan, John Devereaux York and Leonard Cruttle.

"Springfield, Ill., April 26, 1917.
"Mr. C. H. Rammelkamp, secretary, Morgan County Soldiers' Monument Association,
"Jacksonville, Illinois.

"My Dear Mr. Rammelkamp:
"The governor has transmitted thru his secretary to Mr. Martin Roche, president of the state art commission, your request for the co-operation of the state art commission in selecting a suitable design for the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument of Morgan county.
"What method of procedure would be most helpful to you at this time? Would you care to have a special meeting of the art commission with the members of your committee? If you will tell me the status of the work which you are undertaking, we will try to plan to give you all the assistance possible.

"Sincerely,

"Hugh S. Magill, Jr.,
"Member of the Commission."

A number of those present expressed themselves on the subject and Major McDougall suggested that it might be well to offer prizes of say $150 for the best, $100 for the second and $50 for the third, for men could not be asked to submit designs without pay, altho the one receiving the first prize might have the contract, in which case that would be his recompense. No definite action was taken in this matter. The chair also stated that he was pleased to note that the Daughters of the American Revolution had also taken action in the matter favorable to the location of the monument in the park, and again it was expressed that there was a strong desire to have something which would be a pride to the people, to the cause, and worthy of location in the most prominent place in the city.

Duncan park had been selected as a second choice location but the site was not at all satisfactory to the association as it would be a place reserved only by people from one corner of the county and not in the center as was desired. Everyone present said that it was the understanding of a vast majority of the voters, both in the city and county, that the monument would be placed in Central park. It was also urged that it be decided that something might be undertaken so the monument might be ready to be dedicated next year as a very desirable feature of the centennial celebration of this state. Some of the members present felt that if the monument could not be located in the park the whole matter had better be deferred for present, altho no definite action was taken on that subject.

Ownership of Square

The question of the ownership of the square was brought up and it was the opinion that under the circumstances it is city property and of course would be under the jurisdiction of the city council and consequently their permission would have to be obtained for its location in the park. After much discussion it was the sense of the meeting that something must be done definitely. The chair said that they had been consulting with the city council now for two months and those gentlemen had not seen fit yet to answer. He said that he felt now that the matter had been thoroughly placed before them and with all courtesy and good will it was earnestly hoped that they would see fit to act, and in the matter of wishing to see what would be put up by the association it did seem as if the assurance of the state art

PEORIA MANUAL WINS TRACK AND FIELD MEET
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 5.—Peoria Manual won the El Paso interscholastic track and field meet held at El Paso this afternoon by taking third place in the broad jump which was the last event on the program.
Previous to this event the Peorians were tied with Bloomington with 22 points each.
The Bloomington jumper, Richardson, who has been doing over 21 feet in that event slipped on the so-called take-off and lost an opportunity to win the meet for his school. Seventeen high schools participated in the meet but only nine of them
scored, as follows:
Peoria Manual—23.
Bloomington—22.
University High of Normal—16.

The optimistic,
Still we pine
To see again
The glad sunshine.
The oldest odd fellow has again
passed away, this time in California.
The words of praise from Col.
Lewis on the physical fitness of a young man who have been examined for service from this city and particularly from Illinois College speaks well for the clean life of the community and especially well for the work of W. T. Harmon, director of athletics at Illinois college, under whose supervision most of the men have been for several years.

This seems to be poor growing weather for everything except the weeds.
Recruits who contemplate enlisting might get a taste of trench life first hand by entering the employ of the Gas company and assist in digging the trenches for the new gas mains.

The German fleet will salute Argentina at the first opportunity, say the dispatches. Argentina may have a long time to wait for that salute.

It was rather wet in Springfield Friday despite the closing of the saloons.
Many Springfield citizens probably had that "dark brown taste, of the morning after," last Friday.

Dispatches tell us that the Turks have driven the Russians out of Mush. Evidently the Turks were hungry.

The supreme court of South Carolina declared that Malt Tonic was not an intoxicating liquor because one would become sick from drinking it before becoming intoxicated. By the same token whisky might come under that head for frequently a man gets mighty sick from drinking it before becoming intoxicated.

While we are all planning to help the poor down trodden farmer let us not forget the merchant, he may need some help also.
We notice the man who is too old for service is the one who talks the loudest about enlisting in the army.

Perhaps the committee might be able to borrow $5,000 for the city to pursue the water investigation by inserting a want ad in the papers.

In addition to a bale of cotton and barrel of whiskey it probably takes several plow shares to make one of those big shells.
If the trenches somewhere in France are any worse than Illinois field was Friday we feel sorry for the troops who occupy them.

Mayor Rodgers told the council last Monday that it required a bale of cotton and a barrel of whiskey to make one of the big shells used in the present war. **rois as a suggestion why not save the bale of cotton and send the barrel of whiskey to the enemy and let him drink
it. Probably it would cause greater destruction than shooting it at him.

AGED WOMAN
Run Down and Feeble—Made Strong
By Vinol
So many people in Jacksonville and vicinity are in Mrs. Wickersham's condition we ask you to call at our store and get a bottle of Vinol, and if it fails to benefit we will return your money.
In her eighty-second year Mrs.
John Wickersham, of Russellville,
Pa., says: "I was in a run-down,
feeble condition and had lost flesh.
A neighbor asked me to try Vinol, and after taking two bottles my strength returned; I am gaining in flesh, it has built up my health and I am feeling fine for a woman of my age, so I get around and do my housework."
The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Wickersham's case was because it contains beef and cod liver peptides, iron and manganese pep-tonates and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened run-down system and create strength.
Right here in Jacksonville we have seen such excellent results from Vinol that it is a pleasure to know it is doing so much good for old people in other parts of the country.

COUNTESS APPEALS TO BRITISH ARISTOCRACY

To Turn Over Their Fendal Properties to the State—Describes Two Classes of Large Landowners in England—Supreme Sacrifice Required for Betterment of Conditions.

London, May 5. — (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The Countess of Warwick, owner of 23,000 acres, has issued a stirring appeal to the landed aristocracy of Great Britain to follow the example of the Russian Grand Dukes and turn over all their feudal properties to the state.

"We must go," she says. The aristocracy in England, in its position of hereditary landowners, must go.

"The country rings with suggestions for the betterment of the conditions under which land is cultivated, but as I see things, the suggestions are in no instance drastic enough.

"There are two classes of large landowners in England, the aristocracy and the plutocracy.

"As a class, the aristocracy have been good landlords within limits, but the limits are very marked, because they have always been a narrow-minded body. The average chateau who plays the part of Lady Bountiful is to me an abomination, because her philanthropy is so closely associated with dogmatic religion, personal pride, and party politics.

"I have known estates where the tenants are expected to belong to the Church of England, and non-conformists are barred or persecuted. Radicalism is likewise suspected. Farmers, laborers, and small village tradesmen have been ruined or exiled from the place of their birth because their opinions are contrary to those of their landlord. Men and women on such estates must rule their lives to order, think as they are told to think. If our aristocracy possessed the overwhelming wisdom necessary to their role as supreme dictators, all would be well but I cannot reckon in their ranks more than six whose claims would bear momentary consideration.

"As for the plutocrats, the men who have bought lands and titles in the open market—and the one is nearly as readily purchased as the other—they have not the old feudal tradition of the aristocracy. They have been accustomed to make business ventures pay; they demand six per cent on their outlay and employ an agent who will see that they get it. The landlord of this class is a bad landlord.

"For the betterment of social conditions in England a supreme sacrifice is required. It is no more than justice that the men who have offered their lives in this war for Britain should have the freedom of Britain for their reward. It is no justice that calls men to fight for the land and leaves it in the hands of a fraction of those who fought. To me it is impossible that in the future 'His Grace' or 'My Lord' should own square miles of the mother earth for which Tom died and Dick was sore wounded and Harry fought unseemly.

"The country has great needs. It is to remain solvent the united work of one and all is necessary. The old feudal landlord will be an anachronism, the new money-spun landlord an abomination. Only the state can own the land in trust for those who can make it productive. We who are in the high places in England should retire from them in the real halo of renunciation, and our act of sacrifice would be a better memorial than the best of us could have hoped to gain."

Gives Pen to Museum.

Amsterdam, May.—Emperor William has given to the Hohenzollern museum at Berlin, to be kept in a room devoted to war relics, the gold pen with which he signed the mobilization order of July, 1914. Americans, according to the Exchange Telegraph Company, offered large sums of money for the historic pen which the Emperor considers one of his most valued curios.

FINDS ROLE OF CHIEF NEUTRAL DIFFICULT ONE

Spain Finds It Necessary to Draw Sharp Line Between Representatives of Various Capitals—National and Religious Festivals Undergo Change.

Madrid, Spain, May 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)

Now that Spain has taken the center of the stage as the foremost neutral, following the break of relations between the United States and Germany she is finding that the role of the chief neutral is not altogether a happy one. There is added honor and prestige as the intermediary between all the various capitals, but here at Madrid the representatives of all these capitals are ranged in so many hostile camps, with their own champions and followers, their own press and shades of news and gossip, their own policies, intrigues and wirepulling, that the government has found it convenient and necessary to draw a sharp line between these different groups so as to prevent animosities and embarrassments which might seriously interfere with strict adherence to neutrality.

The Spanish capital is famous for the elegance of its official receptions with a strict adherence to precedent and etiquette, and with all the foreign representatives mingling together. Until recently the British ambassador was the dean of these foreign representatives, and by chance, the wife of the German ambassador was doyenne of the wives of ambassadors. This created something of a strain when the various groups assembled and greeted each other in the strict order of their rank.

But when a new British ambassador arrived recently, the German ambassador succeeded as dean of the foreign representatives, and his wife continued as doyenne. As such the German group was distinctly at the front, not only in precedence, but in virtually directing all the intercourse of grand affairs. Even in the ordinary official meetings with the cabinet ministers, representatives of the two hostile groups were brought together in such way that separate audience rooms had to be hastily found in order to avoid a clash, but all this is now overcome by the establishment of different hours and days for all the groups. Even the national and religious festivals are undergoing change because of neutrality. The King's birthday celebration was given up this year. Usually it is attended by a grand reception of all the foreign representatives at the royal palace, with gala performances and popular demonstrations and bull fights. But all this was omitted this year as a was clear all the foreign representatives could not be brought together for a common rejoicing. The ten festivals also, which are usually observed with great ceremony in Spain, are now restricted for the same reason of neutrality.

One of the most curious of these ceremonies is usually on Thursday of the last week of lent, when the king washes the feet of twelve poor men at the palace. It is called the lavatorio, it is a symbol of humility, and is open to the public who crowd the palace to witness this unusual scene. But this year the ceremony is omitted, as it would bring together the two opposing war elements.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

The "Grand Old Lady" of the English-speaking stage is Miss Genevieve Ward, who in her 80th year is now appearing in London in the cast of "The Autocrat" at the St. James' Theatre. Miss Ward, who associated for the length of an ordinary life with the English stage—she has made her residence in England since she was 36—is an American by birth. She was born in New York March 27, 1838. Her career reads like a romance. She was educated in Europe, and at the age of 17 married at Warsaw, Poland, to the Count de Guerbel. She already had then some reputation as a singer, and the following year, in 1856, she began her career as an actress out as an operatic singer, at the famed theatre of La Scala, Milan. As a play upon her given name and the family name of her noble husband, she adopted for her opera career the name Genevra Guerrabella, which she made famous in a few years. She later injured her voice by over-exertion, and in 1873 definitely turned to the dramatic stage after having for some time taught singing in New York. In that year she made her first appearance in England as Lady Macbeth, and quickly became one of the great figures of the stage in England, which has been since the land of her adoption. She resides in London.

The names of the ladies who are to serve as sponsors and maids of honor in connection with the reunion of the Sons of the Confederate Veterans to be held in Washington at the same time the Confederate Veterans hold their encampment in June, have been announced. The sponsor-in-chief is to be Miss Cordelia Taylor of Hollins College, Va., and the maids of honor-in-chief will be Miss Hallie Call Everett of Huntington, W. V.; Miss Mabel Simpson of Wichita Falls, Tex., and Miss Marie Francis Sanders of Washington. Mrs. R. Kent Spiller of Roanoke, Va., will be matron of honor-in-chief and the chaperon-in-chief will be Mrs. Thomas J. Latham of Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Claude M. Swanson of Washington will act as resident chaperon-in-chief and hostess.

NOW is the Time

You NEED the Britannica

NOW is the Time

To USE the Britannica

NOW is the Time

To BUY the Britannica

THE fact that this country is now in war is an imperative reason why you should own the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The fact that the war will touch your pocketbook is an imperative reason why you should own this great library of universal knowledge. To study it, make use of it, get its help, means more knowledge about your work, more efficiency, more skill, greater earning power, more knowledge of how to economize.

What Will Be the Result of the War?

The man who knows what this country is about—the man who knows what has happened in this country's history in time of war—the man who knows what political and commercial currents and cross-currents are influencing all the nations of the world—the man who knows or has a quick, reliable source of information is going to be a sober, sane and reliable citizen. He will not be stamped into a panicky frame of mind by rumors and surmises. The person who depends on reports, guessings and the "they-say" stories current on the streets is going to be a source of worry to himself and possible trouble to the government.

You must buy NOW or you can NEVER own the Britannica

Now is the time when you NEED the Encyclopaedia Britannica. It is the most complete, most reliable, most authoritative source of facts on all subjects of government, the history of the United States, the history of all the nations of the world. It answers questions of precedent, usage, the political bent or tendencies of nations and points the way to the aspirations and governing influences of all nations.

War taxes mean increased burdens, increased expenses. War necessities mean increased production, possibly increased opportunities for the man who can learn facts quickly.

You will be asked to do more, to produce more. The time is at hand when men will be asked to know more about their jobs. Women at home will be asked to practice greater domestic economies—a better knowledge of domestic science—the food-values of different foods, food preservation, food preparation, etc., etc. The Britannica covers all these things fully, intelligently, interestingly, and thousands of other things equally important.

Homes will be left without the strong support and advice of their men folks. Women will be called on to decide questions they have always left to husbands, brothers, sons or fathers. Women may have to go into business to take men's places.

Now is the time you need the Britannica in your home to help you prepare for possibilities—to use—to answer questions and direct you with authority on the thousands of questions of fact about everyday things, from the food value of the things you put on your table to the rights of a tenant, insurance, leases, etc., the collection or payment of money and hundreds of business customs.

A woman who recently bought the Britannica writes:

"We are very much pleased with the Britannica. Under the heading 'Dietetics' I found out more pertaining to the different values of food than I ever knew."

Thousands of doctors will be needed in the armies and hospitals—communities may be left with too few medical men to care for the population. It will be necessary to know more about hygiene, health control, sanitation in the home and community. Nowhere can you find more complete, more reliable help and direction in all such matters than in the new Encyclopaedia Britannica. In it you will find an answer to every question on every need of our complicated domestic life.

As the war will bring heavier taxes it will be necessary in thousands of homes to find additional ways of earning money. The Britannica will be a helpful guide in the selection of a money-making side line. It will give you the facts on which to work intelligently. With knowledge of how and when and why you can make such things successful as photography, bee keeping, poultry raising.

Now is the time when you need the Britannica. Now is the time when you should use the Britannica, and most important of all—NOW OR NEVER IS THE TIME WHEN

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on mouth cleanliness.

Get a tube to-day at your druggists or toilet counter—enjoy the healthy, cleanly feeling its use gives your mouth and gums. Notice how brilliantly white Senreco makes your teeth. It performs this two-fold service for you and yet costs no more than the ordinary, old-fashioned tooth paste that simply cleans the teeth and leaves a pleasant taste—25 cents for a large 2 ounce tube.

BELGIAN MANUFACTURER TELLS OF INVASION

Albert Roux a Visitor Here Gives Graphic Picture of the War—Invading Germans Destroyed His Mill and Scattered His Family.

Duncan Ferguson of Capps Mills was visited yesterday by a gentleman with a very pathetic story. He is Albert Roux of Rouville, Belgium, province of Liege. The gentleman is one of many sufferers from the diabolical outrages of the German army. Mr. Ferguson, a Canadian, has himself lost a son in the war. The army of the Kaiser marched thru his country in August, 1914, and returning they visited him. He had two sons in the army and a son-in-law. The sons are now prisoners starving in German prisons and their families are scattered he knows not where, neither does he know the whereabouts of his daughter and her family.

The gentleman was a wealthy mill owner, handling a mill of twelve sets, which would mean 50 per cent more manufacturing capacity than the Capps mills in this city, although he simply made whole cloth with out any tailoring work. He also had thirty-two tenement houses, each one housing four families, and employed 225 men. The Germans passed thru August 3 and on returning a hundred Uhlans were detailed to wreck their vengeance upon the place. Mr. Roux is a dyer and was working in that department when the villains called. They entered the office and accosted the girl book keeper and she sent for him. When he came with his plain clothes and wooden shoes they looked at him sneeringly and wished to know if he was the proprietor, as his wooden shoes and plain garb hardly denoted such a thing. When told that he was they commanded him to open "that iron box," pointing to the safe, but he refused. They then went away and returned with material to blow it up, taking from it the money he had put there for pay day, and all other valuables. He then went to his house, took his money and other valuables and secreted them on the premises.

The men burned his mill and turned out 128 families from the houses and burned the houses. Then they took Mr. Roux and all the elderly men and put them to work burying dead Germans who had been killed in the great resistance offered. He had worked nine days and becoming weary as he is an elderly man he slacked up in his work and the guard picked him up with his bayonet to hurry him up. It so exasperated him that he turned and dealt the guard a blow on the nose, whereupon the fellow struck him on the side of the face with his bayonet, knocking out his teeth and almost killing him. He lay senseless until night and then dragged himself thru the grass and recovered enough to return and rescue his valuable and with half a million more of old people, women and children, went to Holland and thence to England.

Having enough money Mr. Roux went on to New Orleans, seeking work as a dyestuffs agent, but so scarce he failed to find it. He then went to California and worked a while and then came on to this place, and is now bound for the east, where he hopes to find employment. He manages thru the Red Cross at Geneva to convey some assistance to his sons to keep them from starvation while they are prisoners. It is needless to add that Mr. Roux has great faith in the ultimate success of the war against Germany and hopes it may end in time to save the lives of his loved ones.

While in the city Mr. Roux is the guest of the management of the Dunlap House free of charge and the guests at the hotel made up a list for his benefit. Some of his tales of horror are simply shocking. One brutal soldier thrust his bayonet thru the body of a live infant and handed it to the mother.

FAVOR HOLDING OF FOOD AT IRISH PORTS

Unless Government Prohibits Exportation—Measures for Compulsory Increase of Tillage Prove Successful.

Dublin, Ireland, May 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The food situation in Ireland has provoked, from a certain section, the demand that no food shall be allowed to leave the Irish shores, and it has been urged that unless the government prohibit export the people should forcibly hold up the food at the Irish ports. Though this demand has not been put forward from any responsible source, it has been noticed by Thomas W. Russell, Vice President of the Department of Agriculture for Ireland, who referred to it as "John Mitchell's old cry of 'Hold the food'."

Mr. Russell said only an overwhelming emergency could justify the risk of having their export trade destroyed. Last year Ireland, had exported 46,000,000 pounds worth of food, and to destroy that export trade would destroy the import trade as well since they could get goods into Ireland only by paying for them with exports. There was no necessity for such a move, there was an undoubted shortage of potatoes, but its pressure would not be felt till the end of May and they could make an effort to live on without potatoes until the new crop in June and July.

The government measures for the compulsory increase of tillage in Ireland are proving a success. They are welcomed by the class of small tenants who in most cases are tilling more than the 10 per cent extra required by the regulations. The large graziers and owners of grass lands held out at first, but the heads of Agricultural Department made it evident that they meant to insist on their compulsory powers, and that unless the regulations were obeyed, the land would be taken over and put under tillage, whether the owners liked it or not. The owners are obeying the order to till 10 per cent more land than last year.

The Irish Homestead, looking forward to the end of the war and a continuance of high food prices, calls for the organization of every parish in Ireland upon co-operative lines for the purchase of its raw material and also for the sale of its products direct to the merchants and wholesalers in the towns. The increased cost of living he attributes largely to the fact that the distributive branch of agriculture had been organized in a very haphazard way. He declares that, if the work were organized, as in Denmark, Germany, Holland and Belgium, the people in the British Isles could have a food supply which would ensure them against any danger of being starved out even if there were a thousand submarines lying off their harbors.

Describes Valley of Arum Lilies

London, May 5.—A British officer on duty with the Air Service in East Africa includes in one of his reports a graphic description of an immense valley filled with the huge "Arum lilies", over which he flew somewhere in the region of Zanzibar. As he passed over the valley, he was 8,000 feet high, but the perfume of the lilies reached his nostrils for a long distance.

By means of his glass he observed that the lily flowers were "as large as elephants' ears" and that the whole of the valley had been monopolized by the beautiful flowers. The luxuriance of the vegetation was particularly remarkable. He learned later that the scent of the flowers

A RESIDENT HERE FOR FORTY YEARS

Jacksonville Pioneer Praises Tanlac Hoping Others Will Heed Words

UNABLE TO SAY ENOUGH

"I Can't Speak Too Highly of This New Medicine," Mr. Clean Asserts.

John Olean, an attaché of the Jacksonville court house, has been a resident of this city for the past forty years and he is known and well liked by hundreds here. Hoping that others might profit, Mr. Olean made the following statement on April 30, regarding the relief he derived thru use of Tanlac, the celebrated new medicine:

"For the past seven years rheumatism and stomach trouble have caused me unending suffering. Nothing I ate seemed to agree with me. I simply couldn't retain food in my stomach at times. My blood was impure and very thin, causing me to be so weak that often I would have to use crutches to get around. When I'd scratch my hand the wound wouldn't heal at all, owing to the bad condition of my blood.

"After reading so much in the local papers about Tanlac I finally decided to try the new medicine. Well sir, if there ever was a well man I'm one and I've taken only one bottle of Tanlac. When I had taken only a few doses of Tanlac I began to eat more heartily and the food didn't cause me the least discomfort. My rheumatism has disappeared entirely now and my blood is in fine condition. I know I can't say enough in praise of Tanlac."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Jacksonville at the Coover-Shreve Drug Co., East Side store, where a special Tanlac representative is explaining the new medicine to the public daily. Tanlac also may be obtained at the West Side store of the Coover-Shreve Drug Co. It is sold in Waverly at the Wyle Drug Co.; in New Berlin at the New Berlin Drug Co.; in Ashland at H. O. Brownback's and in Versailles at A. G. Bates' drug store.—Adv.

was so overpowering in the valley that no natives had ever dared to penetrate within its borders.

Reports on Effect of Food Rationing Berlin, May 5.—A Munich professor who has been collecting information regarding the effect of food rationing on the people of Bavaria, finds that in the towns there has been a general loss of weight among the people, but that in the country districts, the loss of weight has been slight, while certain classes of the population have actually gained in weight since the food ration system went into effect.

In the large towns, men under 50 have lost 9.3 per cent, and men over 50, 12 per cent. Women under 50 have lost 6.7 per cent, and women over 50, 10 per cent.

What Is Uric Acid?

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL, AND SUDDEN DEATH.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1775, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its overabundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, gravel, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "Anuric," which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. "Anuric" has proved to be 37 times more potent than alloin, and consequently you need no longer fear muscular or articular rheumatism or gout, or many other diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send to Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., for a pamphlet on "Anuric," or send 10 cents for a trial package of "Anuric Tablets."

If you feel that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, go to your best drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. They are put up in 50-cent packages.

Doctor Pierce's reputation is back of this medicine and you know that his "Golden Medical Discovery" for the blood and his "Favorite Prescription" for the ills of women have had a splendid reputation for the past fifty years.

Doctor Pierce's Pellets are unequalled as a Liver Pill. One tiny Sugar-coated Pellet a Dose. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

WORLD WILL BE BETTER SPIRITUALLY AFTER WAR

Is Belief of Pastor Charles Wagner, Author of "The Simple Life"—Germany's Abuse of Power Will Be Object Lesson to Future Generations.

Paris, France, May 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—"If there is entertained anywhere a conviction that Alsace is German in spirit today, it is a superficial deduction lacking exactly what the Germans have never had, that is, the element of psychology," said Pastor Charles Wagner, author of "The Simple Life," speaking to The Associated Press about President Wilson's speech to the Democratic National Committee and the semi-official reply sent out from Berlin in which it was declared that Alsace is today, as it always has been, German in language, tradition and sentiment. Pastor Wagner began his career as a clergyman in Alsace after the war of 1870.

The Germans claim Alsace as a German-speaking country; yet they themselves were surprised in 1870 to find a people there speaking a language similar to their own, yet so different in everything that goes to make up life," continued the pastor.

There were Alsations that might have been called half and half, that had benefited from French culture and German science. That element thought that, if France should lose Alsace, it might become more and more a connecting link between the two countries. Indeed, the historical origin of Alsace would justify the conviction that the country had a great mission to perform in the world but the mission was denied by the Germans. They would not admit that the Alsations could draw on two sources. They required that the Alsation people should forget France, that they should have only one pride and one glory, that of being German.

"The Germans failed utterly to understand what was noble and worthy in the Alsation character and how they might have made themselves accepted. They were blind to the painful situation of the tenacious and obstinate Alsation people, holding to old affections, and to whom, remaining faithful to France in her misfortunes, Germany appeared all the more excessive in her exultations. They had not the tact and discretion of a successful victor." The consequence was that Alsations attributed the result of the war of 1870 more to circumstances than to Germany's superiority.

"The great contrast they were obliged to draw between the Germans who emigrated from other provinces into Alsace after the war and their ideal German, destroyed their confidence in the much vaunted German organization.

"The Alsation lives well and drinks good wine, but he is ashamed to be seen drunk. The absolute absence of dignity in this respect by the immigrants made it impossible for the Alsation to associate with them.

"The younger generations became more indifferent than the old by force of circumstances, but the partial conquest of this younger element was not a spiritual conquest. It was simply because the population was becoming habituated to new rulers, as an old woman becomes habituated to her false teeth, to her falling beauty, without in any sense becoming enamored of her old age.

"The Germans needed a Napoleon to complete the military conquest of 1870 by the spiritual conquest of the people. He would never lay a hand upon institutions particular to Alsace and Lorraine. He was chafed once about the generals on his staff who spoke German," he said; "Kellerman swears in German, but he fights in French." Napoleon knew that the spirit of the Alsation was French and that he needed have no anxiety the French policy since Louis XIV, had been never to touch anything in Alsace. The country was left with a language that was not national. German and French were taught, but the old patois was the substance. French penetrated the province like a perfume instead of like a projectile as did German institutions.

The Literature of Alsace was that in proportion as the Alsace was that in proportion as the Alsations forgot French they became more Alsation. They never approached any nearer to being German. In less than fifteen years after the beginning of the German occupation, an Alsation literature had sprung up. The Germans permitted it, not understanding that the provincial patois was a sort of a fortress behind which Alsation characteristics were sheltered.

Passing on to general questions regarding the war and its effects afterward, Pastor Wagner, expressed the opinion that the world will be spiritually better for the great trial thru which it has passed.

"The world will have observed," he said, "that there are things that cannot be put into the balance, invisible things that count, and from which good will come. Good will come even from the formidable exposition by men of bad sentiments that will make the rest of the world sick of living among them. Germany's abuse of power is a great object lesson that will be useful to future generations. America even, that great refuge of liberty, was finally forced to rebel against it. The lessons of the sacrifices at have been made by the young will improve the spirit of youth by emulation, while older people have been renovated mentally. The world generally will no longer admire the same things that it did before or will no longer admire them in the same way. It is not only my opinion by my sentiment; I feel myself being spiritually renovated.

A Hunger For Truth
"The perfection to which Germany has brought the organization of falsehood will in itself disgust the world with lying; beginning with falsehoods regarding the origin of the war, falsehoods regarding first aggressions, falsehoods regarding the first use of suffocating gas, falsehoods at all times and on all subjects, prepared and disseminated with all the perfection of German method, will make the world hungry for truth and candor.

"It has been asked whether the result of this war is going to develop hatred between peoples that will be detrimental to our spiritual existence. If we cannot detect actions that are loathsome, how can we defend ourselves against all that goes with them? It will be necessary to extract all sensibility from the human soul before we can cease hating what is vile; in order to love what is good even, we must hate evil, and this opinion comes from a man who never harbored in his soul hate against anyone. I do not say that I personally hate Germany; she horrifies me."

Please tell the American people for me," said Pastor Wagner in conclusion, "that France will never forget how disinterestedly and spontaneously they came to the aid of our afflicted population at a time when they themselves had no thought of being involved in or having a direct interest in the conflict."

City Eye Specialists Tell How To Strengthen Eyesight 50% In a Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Toston, Mass.—Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that Doctors and Eye Specialists now agree there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me."

A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seemed clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I suffered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years, both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now, and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I can express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time, and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses.

Dr. Beck, an eye specialist of nearly twenty years practice, says: "A patient came to me who was suffering from the complaint of Marginalis with all the concomitant symptoms as increasing agglutination of the lids, chronic conjunctivitis and epiphora. Her eyes when not congested had the dull, suffused expression common to such cases. Having run out of her medicine, a friend suggested Bon-Opto. She used this treatment and not only overcame her distressing condition, but strange and amazing as it may seem, so strengthened her eyesight that she was able to dispense with her distance glasses and her headache and neuralgia left her. In this instance I should say her eyesight was improved 100%. I have since verified the efficacy of this treatment in a number of cases and have seen the eyesight improve from 25 to 100 per cent in a remarkably short time. I can say it works more quickly than any other remedy I have prescribed for the eyes."

Dr. Smith, an oculist of wide experience, says: "I have treated in private practice a number of serious ophthalmic diseases with Bon-Opto and am able to report ultimate recovery in both acute and chronic cases. Mr. B. came to my office suffering with an inflamed eye. The condition was so serious that an operation for excision seemed imperative. Before resorting to this operative treatment I prescribed Bon-Opto and in 24 hours the secretion had lessened, inflammatory symptoms began to subside, and in seven days the eye was cured and retained its normal vision. Another case of extreme convergent strabismus (cross eyes) escaped the surgeon's knife by the timely use of your collyrium. The tightened external muscles yielded to the soothing and anodyne effects of Bon-Opto. I always instill Bon-Opto after removal of foreign bodies and apply it locally to all burns, ulcers and spots on the eyeball or the lids for its therapeutic effect. By cleansing the lids of secretions and acting as a tonic for the eyeball itself the vision is rendered more acute, hence the number of cases of discarded glasses."

Dr. Conner says: "My eyes were in bad condition owing to the severe strain arising from protracted microscopical research work. Bon-Opto according to directions rendered a surprising service. I found my eyes remarkably strengthened, so much so I have put aside my glasses without discomfort. Several of my colleagues have also used it and we are agreed as to its results. In a few days, under my observation, the eyes of an astigmatic case were so improved that glasses have been discarded by the patient."

Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of Bon-Opto and if you want to strengthen your eyes, go to any drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to have them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: A city physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, Bon-Opto is a remarkable eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or night glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, itching, smarting, itching, burning eyes, red lids, blurred vision or eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto is not a patent medicine or secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances, or refund the money (it is dispensed by all good druggists in this city, including

Lee P. Alcott and other leading druggists.

BISHOP OF ROCKFORD WINS ANOTHER VICTORY

Appellate Court Upholds De Kalb County Circuit Court in Decision—Suit Was Result of Failure of Contractor Who Was Erecting Church in Maple Park.

Rockford, Ill., May 5.—Rt. Rev. Peter Muldoon, bishop of the Rockford, has won another victory in the Maple Park church case, which had been fought thru several courts.

William Underwood, a contractor who was erecting a Catholic church in Maple Park, failed. Sub-contractors, who had obtained mechanical liens on the edifice held the parish responsible for payment of the construction bill. The Rev. J. Whalen, pastor of the church, had insured the parish against such a loss in a bonding company, but the company declined to pay the claims. The company held that Bishop Muldoon and not Father Whalen held title to the church property.

The DeKalb county circuit court held that the bonding company must reimburse the bishop for money paid to the sub-contractors. An appeal by the bonding company to the appellate court resulted in the circuit court's decision being sustained.

CANADIAN NBOY COMES TO U. S. TO BUY FLAG

Five Year Old George Hollis Boards Train at Home Town On Secret Mission—Returns Carrying Six Large American Emblems.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., May 5.—George Hollis, five years old, living in the Canadian Soo, has the making of a good American.

He boarded an international train recently at his home town to come into the United States on a secret mission. The conductor and immigration officials, who are very alert now—advised George and asked him to sit with his father.

George strutted thru the smoking car with the officials on his trail. He looked from one man to the other until he reached a man in the last seat.

"Here's my father," said George. "I never saw the boy before," said the man.

The boy insisted that the man was his father until he was threatened with a spanking. Then he sobbed and said:

"I wanted to come to the United States and buy a flag. My daddy said the United States was run by God and I wanted to show God that I loved him."

He carried six large American flags and wore a broad smile when he boarded the train for his short run back into Canada.

Grasse, France, is the World's Garden of Flowers. In normal times hundreds of visitors drive daily from the Riviera towns to this little medieval city above the Mediterranean—the center of the perfumery industry of the world.

Paris Perfumers come to Grasse for their raw materials, because it is here the flowers are grown from which the essential oils are distilled.

Perin, the master perfumer, also procures his raw materials from Grasse to make Ory's Perfume, and other Perin Preparations the French way; but being made in America, the enormous duty charged on luxuries is eliminated. Hence, with exactly the same raw material from exactly the same source, and exactly the same skilled labor, Perin Preparations are the same as French Preparations.

The ingredients in Perin Preparations are the best and purest the world affords. The formulae have been called from the recipes of the renowned beauties of Europe, as compounded by famous chemists, and the packages are beautiful and unique.

Leading department stores from coast to coast feature Perin Preparations because of their popularity and merit.

Song: "Higher Ground". President read the 91st Psalm. Prayer by Mrs. Liter, Mrs. Underbrink and Mrs. John Daniels.

Song: "No Not One". Roll call answered by scripture verses.

Business. The report of the Easter supper was called for, Treasurer and Secretary were both absent, and no report had been sent in.

Reading: "A Life Well Spent" by Mrs. J. E. Underbrink.

Reading: "Arbor Day" by Mrs. D. K. McCarty.

A motion was made to take up bible study, for the entertainment hours, at the meetings of the Ladies Aid for the next year.

The motion was carried. The Book of Genesis was chosen for the study for this month, with twenty questions on the same, to be answered at the June meeting. All the members are kindly requested to study the lesson and take part in answering the questions. Mrs. Underbrook has charge of the questions.

Refreshments of the very best, were served by the hostess during the afternoon; she was assisted by her neighbors, the Misses Alma Newall, and June Winkle.

A good offering was taken and all agree that a very pleasant time was spent. We are under obligations to our kind friends of Crum Villa, for transportation on this occasion. S. H. Crum harnessed a spanking team to a good surrey. Mrs. Crum did the driving, getting her load of ladies there and back without a bobble.

Other members are under obligations to Mrs. J. A. Liter and Mrs. H. E. Gotschall for like favors.

The next meeting will be at Cedar Ridge with Mrs. James Lowden and daughter Miss Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mooney and Miss Esther Mooney of Springfield, are guests over Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. U. Mason, on West North street.

PROMULGATE NEW RATES IN QUINCY

Commission Finds Ninety-five cent Gas and Nine Cent Electricity are Equitable.

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—Ninety-five cent gas and nine cent electricity are equitable rates at Quincy, Commissioner Walter Shaw of the state public utilities commission finds in a schedule issued today. The rate will probably be made effective in an order.

The new schedule would mean an annual reduction of gas revenue to the Quincy Gas, Electric and Heating company of $8,000, and an annual reduction of electric revenue of $2,000, the commissions says.

Ninety-five cents per 1,000 cubic feet for gas is fixed for the first 2,000 cubic feet. There is a decreasing charge for larger consumption.

Nine cents per kilowatt hour for electricity is for the first 25 kilowatt hours of residential lighting. For all over this amount six cents per kilowatt hour will be charged. Rates are also fixed for commercial lighting and power service.

The present rates at Quincy are $1 for 1,000 cubic feet of gas and 10c per kilowatt hour of electricity, with reductions for large amounts.

GIVES REASON FOR FLURRIES IN WHEAT

Unintentionally Caused by Unusually Large Purchases of Contract Grades by British.

Ottawa, May 5.—The wild flurries in wheat in the Winnipeg grain market for the past ten days were unintentionally caused by unusually large purchases of contract grades made by the British wheat commission. Sir Thomas White, finance minister today told the Canadian Parliament.

Sir Thomas explained that there had been sufficient wheat of the grades sold to the commission to fill the contracts and that many vendors who sold options, had been caught short when the British buyers called for delivery of the wheat. The vendors said Sir Thomas are now seeking to be relieved of their contracts. They promise to deliver all of the contract grade in their possession and want permission to make up the balance of their sales with lower grades at prices based on relatively milling values of the lower and contract grades.

The Canadian minister of finance has cabled Canadian Commissioner Pearly in London asking him to take the situation up with the British wheat commission and insist that they take action to relieve the Canadian situation.

OUR FLAG, "OLD GLORY"

The stars of night moonlight, And sun's bright rays of red, The white cloud's fleecy mist, Upon our surface spread, With "canton" field of blue, And white star constellation, Surmounts the "fly" so true, Forms the flag of our nation.

In early morn at break of day, Stars shine and twinkle bright, From rising sun break rays, Ribbons of color, red and white, Ascend to kiss blue sky above, Thus nature proclaims her love, "Old Glory," the flag we have, The grandest flag on earth.

In language of color, Our ensign, red, white and blue, The red stands for valor, White for purity true; The blue for justice meant, Pure white and bright red bars, Show Union, past and present, Sealed with the kiss of stars.

Between stripes of purity, white— Lie those stained by blood, red— Upon the canton of right White stars each state added, In seventy-six like a wheel, Circled thirteen stars of state On "Liberty's true blue field Now numbers forty-eight."

United, one great nation, In firm defense they stand, One for all and all for one, At Uncle Sam's command, Nailed to mast on ship of state, So proudly waves "Old Glory," Guard ever our nation's fate, In God's name give victory.

When lowered at mast-head, You honor our noble dead, Flying from top of staff, You cheer the living instead, First in war, first in peace, On native soil or foreign land, Your power for right increase, Freedom and liberty demand.

May Stars and Stripes forever, Like sunset rays, red and white, Point heavenwards together, Kiss the curtain of night, Spangled with stars of hope, Secure in heaven's horizon, Safe may "Old Glory" float, No earth power shall pull her down.

Emblem of union and liberty, For humanity's rights shall stand; Command respect on land and sea, For God and native land, Thus shall you pave the way, For a world universal peace; Pray long live the U. S. A. Till time on earth shall cease.

—Dr. F. Carl Yeck.

STUDENTS MAKING SOAP Prof. T. P. Carter's chemistry class has been putting theoretical knowledge to use lately. A chemical has been bought and with it the pupils have made a fine liquid soap for use in the building. There is no intention to compete with dealers or men in the business tho the pupils may eventually use their knowledge to good advantage.

Coal Storage In May

Mine owners long experienced in the business tell us that coal stored in May will be found next fall in better condition than coal stored in hot summer weather.

The reason is that coal as it comes from the mines is damp with moisture and evaporation is rapid when the sun pours on coal cars. The condition which follows makes coal more likely to "slack". We believe the statement of these men experienced in coal storage and pass the advice on to the public for what it is worth.
